PERFORMANCE SUMMARY

This afternoon's performance was high energy despite a lack of response from the semi-small audience. The cast zipped through the first half of the show with enthusiasm and grace! We cut 5 minutes off of our lowest running time, and only missed one short section of lines in the second Guard/Sergey scene. The audience really liked Sergey's "Russian Tradition" moment, and was tickled by the "tickle" moment. We got some chuckles at the Judge's "personality disorder" monologue, and our audience member Eric was not the most responsive, but he did get some laughs at his reading glasses aside and he read out "Victim 2." As always we got great responses for the Sauna scene and Blueberry Hill. Thank you all for a great show! The cast is looking forward to a large house tonight!

GENERAL NOTES

Our next performance will be tonight at 8!

SCENIC NOTES

1. Not notes for today, thanks!

PROP NOTES

1. The siren button was pressed for a moment when the Lieutenant was turning the megaphone off. We will give the note to the actor.
2. One of the pushpins fell off of the dramaturgy board when Riley was hanging the butcher paper. Stage management will check in with Riley about how we can prevent this in the future. No one was harmed, and the pushpin has been located.

COSTUME NOTES

1. Maria's socks were really funky looking when she took off her boots, is there any way we can look at how she can take off the boots without compromising her socks.
2. When the Devout Woman took off her shawl, she left it too upstage and it was in the way of the piano getting off. Stage management will talk with her about this.
3. Putin's quick change didn't go as quickly as it has in previous times and thus Justin got confused and turned on the portable light a bit too soon. We will run this before the show tonight.
4. We found the pin for Monica's hat! It was in the Stage Right garbage can.

LIGHTING NOTES

1. The Unison wasn't switched over to blackout mode and thus none of the blackouts were fully taken. Stage management has discussed this with the ME and PSE and we will make sure this does not happen again.
2. Putin was in his light!

SOUND NOTES

1. Please see Lighting Note 1.
